WHAT IS MICROSUCTION?

Microsuction is a wax removal technique using a precision suction apparatus to suck unwanted or obstructing skin cells and wax from the ear canal.

We use surgical lenses which provide binocular magnification so that the tip of the suction tube is always under direct vision.

Microsuction is a more precise and gentle technique compared to ear syringing.

Occasionally we may need to use other instruments to remove hard wax. The technique means we can always see what we are doing and can avoid touching the skin on sides of the ear canal.
